Historical Background

"Kasr el Helou" Hallab Palace was founded in 1881 located in Lebanon, Abdul Rahman Hallab combined centuries of know-how from the various cultures and civilizations that occupied the region to achieve his long-time dream.

After nearly 100 years, as the grandson of Mahmoud, Abdul Rahman Hallab decided to have his own shop in Riad el Solh Street, Tripoli, Lebanon, called "Abdul Rahman al Hallab and Sons".

Abdul Rahman Hallab elevated the authentic oriental sweets industry to an artisanal level. His sons (grandsons) kept his memory alive by transforming the Palace he had lived in into Hallab 1881 (حَلَّاب قَصْر الحلو) a restaurant and shop.

Therefore Hallab 1881 became the leading oriental sweet brand in the Middle East and in the whole region.

Building on the success of their father, Abdul Rahman Hallab's sons continued to carry the torch, setting up in their grandfather's Palace and celebrated in Hallab 1881 Palace "Kasr el Helou", which has asserted itself as an empire in its own right.

Hallab 1881 is distinguished from all Hallab family shops by quality assurance and taking care of selecting each ingredient to obtain an amazing authentic sweets taste. Enhancing the authenticity of oriental sweets through a unique know-how and reflecting the beauty of characteristic oriental architecture, "Kasr el Helou" Hallab 1881 Palace is considered today as one of Tripoli's most renowned tourist sites, and is visited by scores of people from across the world.

Today, Hallab 1881 (حَلَّاب قَصْر الحلو) is number one with a diversely-creative items on offer boasting exquisitely-tasty, rich. These have come to include an enchanting variety of new products whose mysteriously-alluring qualities have become one of the industry's most heavily-guarded secrets.

After the passing of Abdul Rahman in 1984, his four sons took charge of the shop: Samer Hallab, Oussama Hallab, Amer Hallab and Adnan Hallab.

The four sons had one vision: to grow their shop into a multinational company.

Currently, Hallab Group consists of 4 companies which produce, distribute and serves Lebanese and occidental business in the Middle East and the world.

Mission

We aim to develop a trusting long-term relationship with our customers, as well as increase our market share and profitability by maintaining our position as the leader in the oriental sweets market.

Vision

We want to create a culture around our oriental sweets produced in the region and globally. We cherish, promote and keep our brand image to worldwide standards by continuously controlling our brand quality, conducting market research, as well as educating and motivating our employees.
